

Dear Friends of CDC,

It's our first newsletter of 2021! We hope you and your family have been keeping well and healthy in the new year. We would also like to take the opportunity to wish you all a very happy and prosperous Chinese New Year! May the year of the ox bring happiness, wealth, longevity and good fortune to you and your family.

Whilst the COVID-19 pandemic still affects us on a daily basis, at the CDC we have been continuing to provide learning opportunities in a variety of ways. To learn more about the CDC's journey during the challenging COVID-19 pandemic, don't miss our latest video, titled 'Coping with COVID 19: Supporting CDC Families with Online Teaching', which highlight how our teachers and therapists have been preparing for online classes. The video also includes some parent feedback about how their children have been impacted by the changes. We hope the video provides you with some insightful snapshots into how the CDC has been coping and adapting during these challenging times, and thank you for your continued support and patience. (Video with Chinese subtitles will be available by the end of February.)

Along with the video, we also have an article with a more in-depth look at 'Parent Feedback on CDC Online Teaching'. There are also two brand new SEN Tips articles for you to read! Be sure to scroll down and check out the 'Upcoming Events' section as well!

Also, a reminder to all CDC Parents that you can still apply for financial assistance for your child's programme(s) with us, if your family has been impacted by the COVID-19. To find out how you can apply, please contact our Programme Coordination Assistant Manager (Karen Tse / 2849 6138).
